WHITE SOX WELCOME 74th ALL-STAR GAME TO U.S. CELLULAR FIELD

The 2003 All-Star Game, Major League Baseball's 74th, will be the fourth Midsummer Classic hosted by the Chicago White Sox and the eighth overall in the city of Chicago.

Old Comiskey Park was the site of the inaugural All-Star Game in 1933, the 1950 contest and the 1983 game, played on the golden anniversary of the 1933 classic. The 1933 game, won by the American League, 4-2, was the first event of its kind in professional sports. The 1950 game was the first contest televised nationally by a network, and the 1983 game was played 50 years to the day of the first Midsummer Classic in 1933.

Major League Baseball's All-Star Game has grown into the most popular and most watched All-Star Game of all the professional sports. In 2002, the All-Star Game in Milwaukee was broadcast in more than 211 countries in 11 different languages. Over 1,800 media members, including more than 250 international media, attended the 2002 All-Star Game at Miller Park. A record 90,000 fans attended the John Hancock FanFest in Milwaukee last year, and approximately 115,000 fans were able to be a part of the All-Star experience through All-Star Sunday, Workout Day and the All-Star Game.

WHITE SOX ALL-STAR GAME FACTS

■ This will be the eighth time Major League Baseball's All-Star Game has visited Chicago. Comiskey Park played host to the inaugural All-Star Game in 1933, the first contest televised nationally by a network in 1950, and the golden anniversary game in 1983. Wrigley Field played host in 1947, twice in 1962 and again in 1990. The American League holds a 2-1 edge in games hosted by the White Sox.

■ All-Time – Eighty different White Sox players (156 times) have been named All-Stars since 1933. Nellie Fox, with 12, tops all White Sox players, while Billy Pierce, with seven, leads all Sox pitchers in appearances. The top five White Sox players in All-Star appearances: Fox, Luis Aparicio (7), Luke Appling (7), Pierce, Sherm Lollar (6) and Minnie Minoso (6).

■ July 6, 1933 – The very first All-Star Game is played at Comiskey Park with the American League winning, 4-2.

■ July 11, 1950 – The All-Star Game returns to Comiskey Park. The National League records a 4-3, 13-inning decision. Ewell Blackwell earns the victory. The game is the first to be televised nationally by a network. NBC televised the game, with 48 stations carrying the broadcast to an estimated 10 millions viewers. Jack Brickhouse handles broadcasting duties.

■ July 13, 1960 – Seven White Sox players, including manager Al Lopez, represent the American League All-Stars in the Midsummer Classic at Yankee Stadium. The White Sox and Yankees each send seven players, most among AL teams. Pittsburgh sends eight for the National League. The NL hits four home runs en route to a 6-0 win.

■ July 6, 1983 – Old Comiskey Park plays host to the golden anniversary All-Star Game, 50 years to the day after the first Midsummer Classic in 1933. The American League wins, 13-3, behind Fred Lynn's grand slam.

■ July 9, 1991 – Carlton Fisk becomes the oldest player in All-Star Game history to collect a hit when the 11-time All-Star singles at age 43 years, seven months and 13 days.

■ July 11, 1995 – Frank Thomas becomes the first White Sox player to homer in an All-Star Game when he connects off Cincinnati's John Smiley in the fourth inning at The Ballpark in Arlington.

■ July 11, 2000 – In Atlanta, James Baldwin becomes the fifth White Sox pitcher to win an All-Star Game, joining Edgar Smith (1941 at Detroit), Early Wynn (1958 at Baltimore), Ray Herbert (1962 at Wrigley Field) and Jack McDowell (1993 at Baltimore).

■ July 10, 2001 – Magglio Ordonez goes 2-3 with a home run at the All-Star Game in Seattle, becoming the second player in Sox history to homer in the Midsummer Classic.

■ July 9, 2002 — Mark Buehrle and Paul Konerko make their first All-Star appearances in the Midsummer Classic in Milwaukee. Buehrle, the first Sox left-hander to make the team since Wilson Alvarez in 1994, allows one run on two hits over 2.0 IP. Konerko ties the All-Star Game record with two doubles, going 2-2 with two RBI. The contest ends in a tie, 7-7 after 11 innings for just the second time in history (last, 7/31/61 at Fenway Park).

Jack Gould

DEDICATION

The Chicago White Sox dedicate the 2003 Media Guide to the memory of Jack Gould, the club's senior vice president of baseball who passed away on November 11, 2002. Gould joined the White Sox as an investor in 1975 during Bill Veeck's second tenure with the club. Under his direction, the White Sox began computerizing the gathering of statistical data during the 1981 season, bringing the club into the forefront of the industry by making baseball decisions based on computer-generated data. As a bomber pilot for the U.S. Army Air Force during World War II, Gould flew on 35 combat missions in Europe and received several decorations, including the distinguished Flying Cross. Lt. Col. and actor Jimmy Stewart was second in command of Gould's wing. He was an advocate of youth baseball and served in various administrative capacities for Colt League Baseball in the northern suburbs of Chicago, including coaching duties.

OFFICERS

JERRY REINSDORF
Chairman

Jerry Reinsdorf begins his 23rd season as chairman of the Chicago White Sox, the second-longest ownership tenure in franchise history behind Charles Comiskey (1901-31) and the third-longest among current Major League Baseball owners. During Reinsdorf's 22 seasons as chairman of the White Sox, the club has captured American League division championships three times, including an AL Central title in 2000. The Sox also won division titles in 1983 and 1993 and were in first place in 1994 at the conclusion of the strike-shortened season.

Since heading the limited partnership that purchased the White Sox in January 1981, Reinsdorf has remained active in the affairs of baseball. He currently is serving a fourth four-year term on Major League Baseball's prestigious Executive Council. Reinsdorf also served a four-year term as chairman of baseball's Ownership Committee and was a member of the board of directors of the Player Relations Committee, Inc. for seven years. He is co-chairman of the Equal Opportunity Committee and remains a member of the Legislative, Labor Policy, Realignment, Long-Range Labor Planning and Relocation committees. He was a member of the American League Presidential Search Committee, which named Gene Budig in June 1994, the Expansion Committee, which designated the last two expansion teams, and the Strategic Planning Committee. Reinsdorf is a member of the board of MLB Properties, as well as MLB Advanced Media, L.P., the interactive media company of Major League Baseball, responsible for creating and maintaining the Web sites of each club and MLB.com.

During his career in professional sports, Reinsdorf, who also is chairman of the Chicago Bulls, has been responsible for the construction of two new sports facilities in Chicago, Comiskey Park (1991), now named U.S. Cellular Field, and the United Center (1994).

Reinsdorf expanded his involvement in professional sports in March 1985 by purchasing controlling interest in the Chicago Bulls. During his tenure as chairman of the Bulls, the team has captured six World Championships for Chicago (1991-93, '96-98). In addition to initiating the building of new Comiskey Park, Reinsdorf spearheaded construction of two major facilities for the Bulls. The United Center, home for the Bulls and Chicago Blackhawks, opened for the 1994-95 season, and the Bulls began using the Sheri L. Berto Center, their state-of-the-art training facility, in 1992. Since 2000, the White Sox and the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority have undertaken offseason renovations to U.S. Cellular Field to improve the ballpark experience for Sox fans. Even more dramatic renovations to U.S. Cellular Field are planned in time for Opening Day 2005.

Both of Reinsdorf's sports franchises are active contributors to the Chicago community through a variety of efforts, including Chicago White Sox Charities and CharitaBulls. He has played a critical role in the development of the west side area surrounding the United Center and is responsible for introducing an innovative reading program to the Chicago Public Schools system. This program, supported by Chicago White Sox Charities, has improved reading levels for many inner city school children by as many as two grades. Through the new Chicago Bulls/Chicago White Sox Training Academy, which opened in 2001, and outreach efforts such as White Sox Training Centers and Chicago Bulls Basketball Schools, Reinsdorf's franchises promote sports to youth while instilling a love of the game in future fans.

Reinsdorf was the 1997 recipient of the Order of Lincoln Award, and his many contributions to the community have been recognized by such organizations as the Interfaith Organizing Project, the American Academy of Achievement, the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, the Trial Lawyers Club of Chicago, the Chicago Jewish Sporting Hall of Fame, the National Jewish Sporting Hall of Fame and the Chicago Sports Hall of Fame. In addition, he is the recipient of the Chicago Park District's 1990 Chicagoan of the Year Award, the 1992 PUSH Bridgebuilder Award, the National Italian-American Friendship Award, Northwestern University's Award of Merit and the U.S. Air Force American Spirit Award. Reinsdorf was awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor in 1993 and the 1997 Mayor's Medal of Honor.

In 1998, he was honored with the Guardian of Children Award from the Jewish Council for Youth Services. As chairman of the Chicago White Sox, he was instrumental in initiating Chicago White Sox Charities, the arm of the baseball organization that raises funds for cancer research, children's and senior programs. Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities has twice conferred its Hallmark Award to Reinsdorf in recognition of his efforts.

In addition to his sports interests, Reinsdorf is an attorney, a certified public accountant, a specialist in real estate securities, a registered mortgage underwriter and a certified review appraiser. In December 1987, Reinsdorf completed employment as chairman of the board of a real estate investment firm he co-founded in the early 1970s and sold to American Express. Currently, he is a partner in Bojer Financial, Ltd., a land investment company. He is a former member of the board of directors of Shearson Lehman Brothers, Inc. and the Northwestern University Law School Alumni Association and is presently a trustee of Northwestern University. He is a director of LaSalle National Bank, is on the board of Equity Office Properties and has served on the boards of numerous other corporations and charities.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. on February 25, 1936, Reinsdorf graduated from George Washington University in Washington D.C. and earned a law degree from Northwestern University after moving to Chicago in 1957. Reinsdorf and his wife, Martyl, have four children and seven grandchildren.

EDDIE EINHORN
Vice Chairman

Eddie Einhorn begins his 13th year as vice chairman of the White Sox, continuing his involvement with chairman Jerry Reinsdorf while also devoting time to his sports and television interests. Prior to becoming vice chairman, Einhorn was the club's president and chief operating officer for 10 years.

Einhorn has been a member of Major League Baseball's Schedule Format Committee, the Professional Baseball Association Committee, Player Development Committee and was a member of the Television Committee from 1992-95. He was one of the key architects of The Baseball Network, Major League Baseball's joint broadcasting venture. Einhorn's Cooperstown Baseball World, a sports camp complex for kids in Oneonta, N.Y., begins its fourth summer in 2003.

Recognized as the architect of baseball's first billion dollar-plus television contract, Einhorn was instrumental in negotiating Major League Baseball's 1990 deal with CBS-TV and ESPN.

In 1989, Einhorn was appointed television consultant to the United States Olympic Committee and was responsible for a 200-hour Olympic television package that debuted in 1990. He is currently television consultant for the United States Figure Skating Association and the International Skating Union, the governing bodies for figure skating throughout the world. In that capacity, he helped engineer the first amateur/professional sanctioned skating competitions. Einhorn also serves on the board of directors of the Chicago Bulls.

Prior to joining law school classmate Jerry Reinsdorf in 1981 to head the limited partnership that purchased the White Sox, Einhorn was the executive producer of the "CBS Sports Spectacular." At CBS, he was responsible for over 200 hours of programming per year and won an Emmy Award for "The Gossamer Albatross, Flight of Imagination" in 1980. Einhorn was the founder and chairman of TVS Television Network, the leading syndicator of sports programming in the 1970s, which helped give rise to the popularity of college basketball on television.

Einhorn was born on January 3, 1936 in Paterson, N.J. and holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of the Northwestern University School of Law. Einhorn and his wife, Ann, have two children: Jennifer, who is senior coordinator of special events for Major League Baseball, and Jeff, who lives in Los Angeles and works in the entertainment industry.

HOWARD PIZER
Executive Vice President

Howard Pizer has primary responsibility for White Sox business and administrative operations, as well as the club's legal matters. The longtime business associate of Jerry Reinsdorf joined the White Sox in 1981 to handle the club's transition from former owner Bill Veeck to the Reinsdorf-Einhorn group.

Prior to its opening on April 18, 1991, Pizer's primary focus was on the necessary steps to create the new Comiskey Park. He utilized this experience in connection with the development and operation of the United Center, the state-of-the-art facility which opened for the 1994-95 Chicago Bulls and Chicago Blackhawks season. Pizer also played a key role in negotiating the club's new partnership with U.S. Cellular.

In addition to setting organization-wide administrative policies and procedures, Pizer established uniformity in corporate-wide computerization and was instrumental in initiating an employee relations program. He also is responsible for the overall relationship between Illinois Sportservice, the White Sox concessionaire, and Levy Restaurants in conjunction with the operation of The Stadium Club and Diamond Suites. Beginning in 1999, Pizer has spearheaded the club's ongoing efforts to constantly improve the ballpark experience for fans attending a White Sox game at Comiskey Park.

Pizer lends his organizational ability to the board of directors of Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities; Special Children's Charities, the fundraising arm of Chicago Special Olympics; and Near West Side Development Corp., which is working to spur affordable housing and economic development on Chicago's near west side. Pizer also serves as vice president and secretary for Chicago White Sox Charities.

Born on October 23, 1941, in Chicago, Ill., Pizer is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He is also a magna cum laude graduate of the Northwestern University School of Law. Pizer and his wife, Sheila, have two children: Jacqueline and Rachel; and three grandchildren.

KEN WILLIAMS
Senior Vice President/General Manager

Ken Williams begins his third season as the club's general manager. Williams became the 11th general manager in Chicago White Sox history on October 24, 2000, replacing Ron Schueler, who had been the longest-tenured general manager in the American League. The White Sox have gone 164-160 (.506) with one third place and one second place finish under Williams, who enters the 2003 season already ranked eighth in tenure among American League general managers.

Since becoming general manager, Williams has made several key moves impacting the major-league roster. During his tenure, Williams has acquired Bartolo Colon, Billy Koch, Gary Glover and Damaso Marte via trade, has signed Sandy Alomar Jr., Jose Canseco, Kenny Lofton and Jose Valentin as free agents, and also has signed current Sox Tony Graffanino, Koch, Paul Konerko, Carlos Lee and Magglio Ordonez to multiyear contracts.

In his position, Williams is responsible for all baseball operations decisions, including major-league and minor-league personnel and scouting. He is the first African-American general manager in Chicago sports history and the third in major-league history, following Bill Lucas (Atlanta, 1979) and Bob Watson (Houston, 1994-95/Yankees, 1996-97). Williams and Jerry Manuel form the first African-American general manager/manager tandem in major-league history. Manuel's contract was extended through 2004 (with an option for 2005) during spring training 2001.

Williams served as the club's vice president of player development for four seasons (1997-2000.) Under his direction, the White Sox were named 2000 Organization of the Year by Baseball America, USA Today and Howe SportsData. Seven products of the Sox farm system, including six pitchers, made their major-league debuts in 2000 as the White Sox posted the best record in the American League at 95-67.

In 1999, the Sox farm system again contributed heavily to the major-league club as 13 Sox players made their debuts during the season (11 debuted in 1998). The Sox used 19 rookies during the season, ending the campaign with seven first-year players from the farm system (13 in 1998). Two White Sox affiliates reached postseason in 1999, with Class AAA Charlotte winning the International League title before losing in the Triple-A World Series in five games to Vancouver, and Class A Burlington captured the Midwest League crown. Advanced Rookie Bristol won the Appalachian League title in 1998.

Williams has spent 16 seasons with the White Sox in a variety of capacities, including player, scout and special assistant to the chairman. Williams served as the director of minor league operations/special assistant to the chairman from November 1995 until becoming vice president of player development in 1997. After his playing career ended, he joined the club in November 1992 as a scout, specializing in the inner cities and was named special assistant to White Sox chairman Jerry Reinsdorf in 1994. As special assistant to the chairman, Williams was involved in the overall operation of the entire White Sox organization. He also worked at SportsChannel in 1995 as a studio analyst on White Sox telecasts.

Williams is active in the organization's outreach programs within the community. He has played a crucial part in the White Sox introducing the Direct Instruction program to the Chicago Public Schools system and takes an active role in the club's community relations initiatives.

A former outfielder with the White Sox (1986-88), Detroit (1989-90), Toronto (1990-91) and Montreal (1991), Williams appeared in 451 career major-league games. Williams was a lifetime .218 hitter (252-1,157) with 27 home runs and 119 RBI. His best season came as a rookie in 1987, when he hit .281 with 11 home runs and 50 RBI for the White Sox. Williams originally was selected by the Sox in the third round of the June 1982 free agent draft.

Born on April 6, 1964 in Berkeley, Calif., Williams attended Stanford University, where he played football. Williams and his wife, Jessica, have five children: Temeka, Dedrick, Ken Jr., Kyle and Tyler. The family resides in Plainfield, Ill.

ROB GALLAS
Senior Vice President, Marketing and Broadcasting

Rob Gallas begins his 14th season with the White Sox after joining the club in September 1989. Gallas and the Sox marketing department have consistently focused on promoting fan-oriented programs that create an enhanced baseball experience for Sox fans throughout U.S. Cellular Field. In 2003, the club's integrated marketing focus continues to be on kids, families and fun at the ballpark.

Gallas directed the club's marketing efforts as the Sox closed old Comiskey Park in 1990, opened new Comiskey Park in 1991 and enjoyed one of the best attendance decades in franchise history as the team drew nearly 20 million fans to Comiskey Park in the 1990s (19,777,566 for an average of 1,977,757 fans per season). Eight of the club's top 10 season attendance marks have come since 1990, and the team's eight sellouts in 2000 were the most in club history.

Sox marketing efforts have introduced fan-focused and fun events like Kids Sundays, Family Mondays with half price admission, "Pepsi Half-Price Tuesday's," "Dog Day," "Elvis Night" and FUNdamentals, the in-park baseball skills area just for kids.

Gallas also is responsible for the club's relationship with its broadcast partners, WGN-TV, FOX Sports Net, WCIU-TV and ESPN Radio 1000. Gallas oversees the club's advertising campaigns which over the years have included celebrity spots, Bo Jackson's "Hip Season Ticket Plan," spoofs on names featuring the club's players, a summer action thriller movie trailer and the highly regarded "The Kids Can Play" and "Come Ready To Play" campaigns that combined the team's on-field approach with the fun options available to Sox fans at the ballpark.

The White Sox logo and uniforms, unveiled at the end of the 1990 season, consistently have kept the Sox near the top of Major League Baseball in merchandise sales. At the same time, a strong effort is being made to help fans interact with the team's players through events like SoxFest, the weekend baseball celebration held at the end of January, Kids Sundays, with autograph sessions for kids, and White Sox Day at the annual Taste of Chicago.

As president of Chicago White Sox Charities, Gallas heads the club's efforts to "give back" to the Chicagoland community through Chicago White Sox Charities and Sox community relations efforts. He also is a board member for Chicago Youth Centers, Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities and the Chicago Museum of Broadcast Communications.

Gallas began his career as a news and sportswriter with newspapers in the Midwest, including a stint from 1976 to 1983 as the White Sox beat writer for the Chicago suburban Daily Herald newspaper chain. He received the Jacob Scher award for investigative reporting in 1975 and in 1980 captured UPI's Illinois Newspapers Best Sportswriting Award. Before joining the White Sox, he held the position of group manager of marketing communications and services for a division of Baxter Healthcare Corporation.

Gallas was born in Chicago, Ill. on January 4, 1951. A 1973 graduate of the University of Evansville (Indiana), Gallas and his wife, Sharon, have two children: Christopher and Jennifer, and one grandchild: Elaine Grace. The Gallas family resides in Palatine, Ill.

TIM BUZARD
Vice President, Administration & Finance

As vice president of administration and finance for the White Sox, Tim Buzard is directly responsible for the club's accounting, ticket office, human resources, data processing and public relations departments. Buzard oversees the Chicago Bulls/Chicago White Sox Training Academy, located in Lisle, Ill., which celebrated its grand opening in 2001. The state-of-the-art facility offers professional baseball, softball and basketball instruction to kids of all ages, from beginners to professional athletes.

Prior to his promotion to vice president of administration and finance, Buzard served as vice president of finance for 12 years and controller for five years. Upon his arrival in 1981, his top priority was developing a detailed budget and long-term accounting plan. He initiated the automation of the accounting department and assisted in an organization-wide computerization project. Buzard also has initiated new cash management and comprehensive risk management systems, which reduced risk exposures and costs for the franchise.

Buzard spent much of the 1993 season as a member of Major League Baseball's Chief Financial Officers' Committee studying revenue sharing and has played a major role in the implementation of baseball's new revenue-sharing agreement. Buzard has overseen a ticket office customer service campaign, the development of a human resources department with the White Sox and is responsible for the organization's integrated approach to communications. He currently is a member of the Major League Baseball non-uniformed Personnel Pension Plan Committee.

Buzard graduated in 1978 from the University of Illinois with a degree in accounting and became a certified public accountant in 1981. He served as a senior accountant for Ernst & Whinney for three years prior to joining the Sox.

Buzard was born on September 13, 1955 in Evanston, Ill. He and his wife, Sandra, have two children: Jacqueline and Kevin. The Buzard family resides in Highland Park, Ill., where he is actively involved in coaching youth baseball.

LARRY MONROE
Vice President, Free Agent and Major League Scouting

Larry Monroe enters his ninth season as the club's vice president of free agent and major league scouting after serving as White Sox vice president of scouting and minor league operations from 1990-94. Monroe was named to his present position on October 10, 1994.

A former right-handed pitcher for the White Sox, Monroe brings 28 years of experience in the White Sox organization as a player, scout, minor-league instructor and coach. He served as both a special assistant to the general manager and major-league scout before taking over vice president duties.

Monroe enhances the club's scouting efforts during the season and his experience allows him to assist general manager Ken Williams in evaluating potential player moves.

ROLAND HEMOND
Executive Advisor to the General Manager

One of the most respected and experienced executives in baseball, Roland Hemond rejoined the Chicago White Sox as executive advisor to General Manager Ken Williams on November 30, 2000.

Hemond, a three-time winner of Major League Baseball's Executive of the Year award, brings over 50 years of professional baseball experience to his position, including 24 seasons as a general manager with the White Sox (1970-85) and Baltimore Orioles (1988-95) and five seasons as a senior executive vice president with the Arizona Diamondbacks (1996-2000).

Hemond advises and assists Williams and represents the White Sox in a number of ways. Not only a valuable asset in the daily operation of the baseball department, he is a nationally recognized ambassador of the game and a highly sought after speaker. Hemond's professionalism, friendliness and willingness to contribute ideas and advice are attributes unmatched in the industry.

During his first stint with the White Sox, Hemond was named executive of the year in 1972 and 1983. The 1972 Sox, featuring Hemond acquisition Dick Allen and manager Chuck Tanner, went 87-67 for the franchise's first winning record in five seasons. The 1983 club went 99-83 and won the American League West Division title by 20.0 games, then a record for largest winning margin.

While with Baltimore in 1989, Hemond was tabbed executive of the year for the third time after the Orioles improved 32.5 games from the previous season. The 1992 Orioles made a 22.0-game improvement in the standings. Hemond left Baltimore after the 1995 campaign to work with the expansion Diamondbacks.

Hemond was honored by Minor League Baseball for his longtime dedication and service to the game as the 2001 "King of Baseball." Hemond's baseball career began in 1951 as a front office member of the Eastern League's Hartford Chiefs. He also worked with the Boston/Milwaukee Braves from 1952-60 before being hired as scouting and farm director of the Los Angeles Angels in 1961.

Hemond remained in that capacity until joining the Sox in 1970. At the same time, the White Sox hired Tanner, who had served as manager of the Angels Class AAA team in Hawaii while Hemond was with California. The Hemond/Tanner tandem proved potent, as the Sox finished third and second in their first two seasons with the Sox. While with the Sox, Hemond worked for three different ownership groups, John Allyn, Bill Veeck and Jerry Reinsdorf. Hemond left the Sox in 1985 and spent two years working for the Commissioner's office in New York before joining the Orioles.

Hemond was recently elected president of the Association of Professional Ballplayers of America (APBPA), a non-profit organization that helps former and current players and baseball personnel in need. He had served as first vice president of the APBPA for the last three years. Along with Dennis Gilbert and scouts Dave Yoakum (White Sox) and Harry Minor (Mets), Hemond helped found the Professional Baseball Scouts Foundation to provide assistance to long-time scouts who are in need of special support.

Hemond is a native of Central Falls, R.I. He and his wife, Margo, have five children: Susan, Tere, Robert, Jay and Ryan, and three grandchildren: Taylor, Natalie and Zane. Margo's father is John Quinn, a former major-league general manager for 28 years. Her brother Bob served stints as general manager of the Yankees, Cincinnati Reds and San Francisco Giants, and her brother Jack was president of the NHL's St. Louis Blues after serving as general manager for the Pacific Coast League's Hawaii Islanders and Vancouver Mounties. Hemond's son, Bob, is part owner of the Class AAA Sacramento River Cats of the Pacific Coast League. The Hemonds reside in Phoenix and Chicago.

Dr. Lopez, a father of three, had treated Einhorn in the past and the two maintained a friendship. When Dr. Lopez learned of Einhorn's need, he quickly volunteered his own kidney. "This award serves as a tribute to Roland Hemond and was created to celebrate his lifetime commitment and selfless service to the community," said Reinsdorf. "Roland has dedicated himself for more than half a century to bettering the lives of those around him. He is a true inspiration."

Jack McDowell (22-10) and Alex Fernandez (18-9) in 1993 were the last Sox teammates to combined for 40 victories, while LaMarr Hoyt (24-10) and Rich Dotson (22-7) in 1983 were the last to each win 20 games in one season. Top 1-2 Punches In White Sox History

Bartolo Colon (20-8) and Mark Buehrle (19-12) combined to win 39 games in 2002, which would have been the fourth-highest total of any duo in baseball behind Arizona's Randy Johnson and Curt Schilling (47), Oakland's Barry Zito and Mark Mulder (42) and Boston's Derek Lowe and Pedro Martinez (41). Since 1928, only five White Sox pitching duos have combined for 40 victories in one season, most recently by Jack McDowell (22-10) and Alex Fernandez in 1993. A list of Sox pitchers since 1928 to combine for 40 wins:

A History of White Sox Parks

New Comiskey Park: The new Comiskey Park opened on April 18, 1991, three years after the Illinois General Assembly passed legislation to build the park directly across the street from old Comiskey Park. A groundbreaking ceremony was held on May 7, 1989, with Mayor Richard M. Daley and Governor James Thompson in attendance. The new park features an exploding scoreboard, an old-time façade complete with arches and over 40,000 unobstructed-view seats. The new Comiskey Park attracted a club record 2,934,154 fans in its first year. Comiskey Park underwent offseason renovations from 2000-02. The changes included adding seats closer to the action and construction of a new batter's eye.

Old Comiskey Park: After nine years in the South Side Grounds, Charles Comiskey started construction on his new "Baseball Palace of the World" at the corner of 35th Street and Shields Avenue. White Sox Park opened on July 1, 1910, but soon became known as Comiskey Park. The new park was designed by architect Zachary Taylor Davis with help from Comiskey and pitcher Ed Walsh. Comiskey Park featured spacious dimensions (362 feet down each line and 420 feet to straight-away center field). Before the 1927 season, the park was enclosed by a double-decked outfield grandstand. On August 14, 1939, the first night game in Chicago was played at Comiskey Park, with the Sox defeating the St. Louis Browns, 5-2. The first large center field scoreboard was built in 1950 and lasted until replaced by Bill Veeck's exploding version in 1960. During the 1960s and early 1970s, ballpark is called "Sox Park." In 1982, a new scoreboard, complete with color video board, was constructed along with new Golden Box seats, dugouts and a level of luxury sky suites. The White Sox played their final campaign at old Comiskey Park in 1990. The festive final weekend of the old stadium was capped by a 2-1 Sox victory over the Seattle Mariners in the final game on September 30, 1990.

Windy City Classic

For the fourth straight season, the White Sox and Cubs will play a pair of three-game series in 2003, on June 20-22 at Wrigley Field and June 27-29 at U.S. Cellular Field. Since interleague play began in 1997, the White Sox hold a 16-14 edge, although the Cubs have outscored the Sox by a 158-137 margin. The South Siders are 9-6 at home and 7-8 at Wrigley Field. The two teams split the season series, 3-3, in 2002, both winning two of three on their home field. The White Sox drew 137,292 fans on June 27-29, the largest turnout for a three-game series at U.S. Cellular Field. It marked the second straight season in which the White Sox and Cubs established a three-game series attendance record at U.S. Cellular Field. In addition, the crosstown series has drawn the top 12 regular-season crowds in U.S. Cellular Field history, including a record 46,027 on June 28, 2002. Including postseason, exhibition, spring training and regular-season games, the Sox own a 137-93-6 edge.

A Classic Revisited

The White Sox will play the Dodgers for the first time ever during the regular season and also make their first appearance at Dodger Stadium in Chavez Ravine. Excluding spring exhibitions, the Sox and Dodgers have not met since the 1959 World Series, won by Los Angeles in six games. The "Go-Go Sox" of 1959, making their first World Series appearance in 40 years, posted an 11-1 victory in Game 1 at Comiskey Park behind a pair of home runs from Ted Kluszewski, before dropping the next three games to fall behind, 3-1. Playing in front of 92,706 fans at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, Chicago rebounded to win Game 5, 1-0, before returning home to drop the deciding Game 6, 9-3.

August 3, 1997 ..... Nellie Fox is inducted into the National Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. Fox, who played with the Sox from 1950-63, batted .288 with 35 home runs and 790 RBI over his 19-year career. He is further honored when the White Sox hold "Nellie Fox Day" at Comiskey Park on 8/16.

Sept. 14, 1997 ..... Carlton Fisk's uniform No. 72 is retired in a ceremony prior to the White Sox game vs. Cleveland. Fisk, who played with Chicago from 1981-93, becomes the eighth Sox player to have his number retired, joining Nellie Fox (No. 2), Harold Baines (3), Luke Appling (4), Minnie Minoso (9), Luis Aparicio (11), Ted Lyons (16) and Billy Pierce (19).

Sept. 28, 1997 ..... Frank Thomas finishes with a .347 average to become the second player (third time) in club history to capture the American League batting title. Thomas wins by .017 over Seattle's Edgar Martinez as he joins Luke Appling (1936 and 1944) as the only Sox players to win the crown.

Dec. 4, 1997 ..... Jerry Manuel is named the club's 36th manager. Manuel becomes the second minority manager in Sox history (Larry Doby served as interim manager for 87 games in 1978) and the first African-American hired as manager or head coach in Chicago sports history.

July 31, 1998 ..... Albert Belle sets a major-league record by hitting his 16th home run in July, breaking the previous mark of 15 shared by Joe DiMaggio (1937), Hank Greenberg (1938), Joe Adcock (1956) and Juan Gonzalez (1996).

Sept. 1, 1998 ..... Albert Belle hits his 42nd home run and records his 337th total base at Baltimore to set franchise single-season records in both categories. Belle eclipses the existing home run mark held by Frank Thomas (1993) and total bases mark held by Joe Jackson (1920).

July 6, 1999 ..... Chris Singleton becomes the fourth player in franchise history (first rookie) to hit for the cycle when he goes 5-6 with four RBI vs. Kansas City.

April 27, 2000 ..... Jose Valentin becomes the fifth player in club history and second in two years (Chris Singleton) to hit for the cycle ... Valentin produces a "natural" cycle when he singled in the first inning, doubled in the second, tripled in the third and homered in the eighth.

April 30, 2000 ..... The Sox set a major-league record by scoring 181 runs in April, breaking the mark of 180 set by Texas in 1998.

July 4, 2000 ..... Ray Durham and Jose Valentin lead off the game at Kansas City with back-to-back home runs, marking the first time the Sox have accomplished that feat since Boze Berger and Mike Kreevich did it on 9/2/37 vs. Boston ... the White Sox 12-game road winning streak, the longest in baseball since Detroit won 17 straight to open the 1984 season, ends at Kansas City ... their last 10 road wins come vs. teams who were .500 or above at the time of the game ... according to Elias Sports Bureau, the Sox are the only team in baseball since 1900 to accomplish that feat.

July 14, 2000 ..... Frank Thomas breaks Luke Appling's 50-year-old club record of 1,116 RBI vs. St. Louis, reaching the mark in 1,459 games ... Appling set the mark in 2,422 games.

Sept. 24, 2000 ..... Chicago clinches the American League Central Division title at Minnesota, securing its first playoff berth since 1993.

July 10, 2001 ..... Magglio Ordonez goes 2-3 with a home run at the All-Star Game in Seattle, becoming the second player in Sox history to homer in the Midsummer Classic ... his solo home run off the Cubs Jon Lieber follows a solo shot by New York's Derek Jeter as they become the fifth teammates in All-Star Game history to hit back-to-back homers.

October 7, 2001 ..... Magglio Ordonez hits his 40th double on the season's final day at Minnesota to become just the seventh player in major-league history (first in the American League) to hit .300 with 40 doubles, 30 home runs, 100 RBI and 25 stolen bases in one season.

July 9, 2002 ..... Paul Konerko ties an All-Star Game record with two doubles in Milwaukee.

Revenue from the agreement will allow the White Sox and the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority undertake significant structural renovations to the ballpark in time for Opening Day 2005.

Hall Of Famer Nellie Fox

In 1958, Nellie Fox struck out just 11 times in 623 at-bats (one every 56.6 at-bats), the best single-season strikeout ratio in club history. Fox holds the major-league record for most seasons leading the league in fewest strikeouts (11, 1952-62). Fox, who in 1959 became the first Sox player to win the American League Most Valuable Player Award, also holds the club mark for most consecutive games played (798). He was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1997.

Team Of The Century

Two-time MVP Frank Thomas led all voting as the White Sox announced the franchise's 27-player "Team of the Century" on September 30, 2000, commemorating 100 years of White Sox baseball. Thomas, who received 10,822 votes, was followed by Joe Jackson (9,293), Luke Appling (9,234), Carlton Fisk (8,866) and Nellie Fox (8,727). Al Lopez, who went 840-650 (.562) in 11 seasons as Sox manager from 1957-65 and '68-69, was selected as the All-Century Manager.

Ten of the 27 players are Hall of Famers, including the recently inducted Fisk, and six played during the Go-Go Sox era of the 1950s. Thomas is the only Team of the Century members still active with the Sox. More than 200,000 votes were cast on 18,500 in-stadium and online ballots during the month-long voting.

Minnie Minoso

Orestes "Minnie" Minoso played 12 seasons with the White Sox covering five separate stints and four decades, batting .298 (1,963-6,579) with 186 home runs and 1,023 RBI from 1951-57, '60-61, '64, '76 and '80. Minoso became the first African-American player in franchise history when he made his major-league debut on May 1, 1951 vs. the Yankees, homering off Vic Raschi in his first at-bat. A six-time All-Star with the Sox, he ranks among the career franchise leaders in virtually every offensive category. Minoso's uniform No. 9 was retired by the Sox in 1983, and he still works with the club as a community relations representative.

White Sox Turnaround

The White Sox 1990 record of 94-68 (after finishing 69-92 in 1989) was the largest one-year turnabout in club history, eclipsing the 1970-71 revival when the Sox improved from 56-106 to 79-83.

Consecutive Winning Seasons

The White Sox posted 17 consecutive winning seasons from 1951-67, the third-longest string in baseball history behind the New York Yankees (39 from 1926-64) and Baltimore Orioles (18 from 1968-85).

Ed Pebley and Gary Pellant Share Second Annual "George Bradley Scout of the Year Award"

Ed Pebley and Gary Pellant, veteran scouts with the Chicago White Sox, are the co-recipients of the George Bradley Scout of the Year Award for their efforts in 2002. The award, which previously has been part of the organization's annual Lubin honors, was renamed for Bradley, the longtime baseball executive, scout for the White Sox and special assistant to general manager Ken Williams, who passed away suddenly in September 2001. Pebley, the national crosschecker, and Pellant, the professional scouting coordinator, have been part of the White Sox organization since 1987.

In addition to local television coverage, three White Sox games will be shown as part of FOX's Saturday "Game of the Week," and one on ESPN's Sunday Night Game of the Week. Others may be selected by FOX and ESPN after the All-Star Break (dates and times to be announced).

All 162 White Sox games will be televised with two appearing locally as Cubs broadcasts on FOX Sports Net (June 20) and WGN-TV (June 22). Fifty-eight of the telecasts are over-the-air, while the other 104 are available through cable systems.

Flagship radio station ESPN Radio 1000, featuring John Rooney on play-by-play and Ed Farmer as color commentator, will broadcast all 162 White Sox games for the eighth consecutive season in 2003.

Seven of the 103 Sox games televised by FSN will be carried on FOX Sports Net Plus (except in the Chicago ADI where the games will appear on CLTV) due to conflicts with telecasts of the Chicago Bulls, Chicago Blackhawks or Chicago Cubs. The seven games are: April 11 at Detroit, May 14 vs. Baltimore, May 21 vs. Toronto, June 4 at Arizona, June 13 vs. San Diego, July 23 at Toronto and September 19 vs. Kansas City.

WCIU-TV will televise the first of its 25 White Sox contests on Thursday, April 10 at Cleveland (6:05 p.m.).

The first and third games of the crosstown series against the Chicago Cubs at U.S. Cellular Field on Friday, June 27 and Sunday, June 29 will be televised by FSN (both 1:05 p.m. starts). WGN-TV will air the middle game on Saturday, June 28 at 3:05 p.m. When the Sox travel to Wrigley Field on June 20-22, FOX will broadcast the Saturday game nationally (12:15 p.m.), with Friday and Sunday's telecasts being local Cubs broadcasts.

In addition to the Sox/Cubs games on June 21 at Wrigley Field, the White Sox also will appear on FOX's National Saturday telecast on May 31 at Cleveland and September 6 vs. Cleveland at U.S. Cellular Field, and on ESPN on May 4 vs. Seattle. Ballpark Renovations

The 2003 season marks the third straight in which renovations to the ballpark will be made in time for Opening Day. A year-by-year breakdown of the specific renovations made since 2001:

- A vertical screen was installed in front of the seats behind home plate, replacing the ball-return screen that ran back to the press box and covered the lower-level seats. The new screen is less of a distraction to fans and makes it easier for fans sitting behind the screen to see the game action.
- A multitiered batter's eye in center field. The top section of the batter's eye is a semi-transparent screen, allowing fans to look out onto the field without affecting the vision of the batter. Plants are being grown on the terraced batter's eye to provide a green hitting background. The design added space on the main concourse for additional fan use.
- The main concourse upgrades changed the wall, ceiling and lighting treatments by including brick and metal in the design. Fronts of concession stands were upgraded to stainless steel counters with a new canopy design (between foul lines only). Decorative lights were added along the concourse in keeping with the overall design theme.
- The club level concourse was completely enclosed, with heat and air conditioning throughout. The finishes were upgraded to match those found in many in the club areas of the newest sports facilities. Restrooms also were renovated.

- Added multiple rows of seats along the foul lines (beyond each dugout) in front of the existing seating.
- Relocated the bullpens to allow fans to see pitchers warming up. The White Sox bullpen were placed beyond and along the fence at the left-field foul pole. The visiting bullpen was placed beyond and along the fence to the left of The Bullpen Sports Bar.
- Filled in the areas of the former bullpens with seating.
- Made the outside portion of The Bullpen Sports Bar into a two-tiered terrace seating area.
- Extended the outfield seating area down to the fence in many areas.
- As a result of the renovations, the dimensions of the ballpark's outfield fence changed from its former symmetrical design. The new dimensions are 330 feet down the left-field line, 377 to left center, 400 to center, 372 to right center and 335 down the right field line. The ballpark formerly measured 347-375-400-375-347. Capacity is now 47,098

Agreement Enables Fan-Friendly Renovations to Ballpark

CHICAGO (January 31, 2003) — U.S. Cellular, a Chicago-based wireless service provider, and the Chicago White Sox have signed a naming rights agreement that creates the opportunity to pursue dramatic, fan-focused renovations and improvements to the ballpark, now named U.S. Cellular Field, over the next several years.

The terms of the 23-year agreement include $68 million paid over 20 years. In addition to exposure through significant ballpark signage, the agreement includes various hospitality benefits and joint-marketing opportunities. The White Sox will also extend their lease with the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority (ISFA) for 15 additional years, through 2025.

Partnership Quick Facts

- U.S. Cellular Field has undergone a third phase of renovations this offseason (2002-03), with a new scoreboard and video display system, a center field observation deck, upgrades to the outfield and upper deck concourses and changes to the color scheme around the ballpark
- An announcement on the significant renovations planned for U.S. Cellular Field for 2003-05 will come during the first half of the 2003 season
- The White Sox are committed to honoring the legacy and long history of the Comiskey family within U.S. Cellular Field in an appropriate manner

"U.S. Cellular and the White Sox have forged a unique partnership that will provide the resources for major design changes to the ballpark that will benefit every White Sox fan," said Jerry Reinsdorf, chairman of the White Sox. "Our goal is to transform U.S. Cellular Field and to provide a fun, family-oriented atmosphere for our fans. As a local company committed to its customers in the Chicagoland area, U.S. Cellular is the right partner to make this a reality."

Currently, more than 50 percent of major league ballparks feature a corporate name. A major difference between the U.S. Cellular Field partnership and other agreements is that the naming rights revenue provided by this partnership will allow for major changes to the ballpark that improve the fan experience.

Specific details regarding future design and renovation plans and construction timelines will be announced in the future.

"The Chicago White Sox have played an important and very visible role in this community for more than 100 years," said John E. Rooney, president and CEO of U.S. Cellular. "We are extremely proud of U.S. Cellular's Chicago roots. Our company's participation in a dramatic makeover of this great ballpark is exciting because it directly benefits White Sox fans and the City of Chicago."

The ballpark opened in 1991 and has undergone renovations over the past three off seasons. U.S. Cellular Field will serve as the site of the 74th Major League Baseball All-Star Game, to be held July 15, 2003. One of the renovations discussed publicly in the past is a major design change to the upper deck.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE AGREEMENT

- The U.S. Cellular Field naming rights agreement will improve the ballpark experience for every Chicago White Sox fan by allowing ISFA and the White Sox to begin significant renovations to U.S. Cellular Field.
- Revenue provided by this partnership will be used to make dramatic, fan-focused design changes to U.S. Cellular Field that benefit White Sox fans and the city of Chicago.
- Chicago-based U.S. Cellular is the right partner for the White Sox — customer oriented, Chicago roots — and the White Sox are looking forward to a partnership that benefits all Chicago fans. The company's customer-focused approach and commitment to the community will benefit White Sox fans and the city of Chicago.
- The White Sox understand the importance of the Comiskey name to the club's history, and are committed to acknowledging the Comiskey family legacy within the ballpark in an appropriate manner.
- These major renovations to U.S. Cellular Field will be done at no cost to Illinois taxpayers.
- Renovations to the ballpark are in response to feedback received from fans and reflect advances made in ballpark design since the facility opened in 1991. Fan response to the first three phases of renovations (2000-2002) has been very positive.
- U.S. Cellular Field will be the site of Major League Baseball's 74th All-Star Game, scheduled for July 15, 2003.

All previous renovations to the ballpark have been in response to feedback from fans or have resulted from advances made in design since the park opened.

"Our goal is to create a world-class ballpark that reflects the City of Chicago," said Reinsdorf. "We will continue to improve the intimacy, feel and character of the ballpark over the next two years. Fans have responded very positively to previous renovations, so we look forward to unveiling the new version of U.S. Cellular Field in 2005."

"Working with the White Sox, we have completed many well-received renovations to the ballpark over the past three off-seasons. We have continued to develop design ideas to make significant changes to the ballpark," said Alexander R. Lerner, chairman of ISFA.

Lerner added, "We are pleased that U.S. Cellular and the White Sox are providing the financial means to enable the White Sox and ISFA to accomplish significant renovations to the park at no cost to the taxpayers. The White Sox finding a partner such as U.S. Cellular is the first and most important step. We will immediately begin work with the White Sox to reach agreement on financing, designs, construction plans and similar matters. These decisions then will be incorporated into an agreement between ISFA and the White Sox, which is subject to review and approval by the ISFA Board."

White Sox Chairman Jerry Reinsdorf and U.S. Cellular President/CEO Jack Rooney formalize the naming rights partnership for U.S. Cellular Field at a press conference at the ballpark's Conference & Learning Center on February 3, 2003.

Conference & Learning Center

In mid November 2001, the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority (ISFA) and the Chicago White Sox announced the Grand Opening of the Conference & Learning Center, a state-of-the-art conference center that features the latest in communication and presentation technology.

"This facility is unique and state-of-the-art," said White Sox senior vice president of marketing and broadcasting Rob Gallas. "Not only does it offer the latest in presentation capabilities, but it also enables ISFA and the White Sox to expand our community outreach programs to include thousands of students and tourists who visit the ballpark.

"In addition," Gallas said. "The Conference & Learning Center provides a tremendous business opportunity for Chicago's corporations to host meetings, seminars and training sessions just steps away from a Major League Baseball field."

The facility, a joint partnership between ISFA and the White Sox, was designed by Campbell Tiu Campbell, Inc. and built by the joint venture of Walsh/Riteway. Audio/visual consultation and implementation was handled by Swiderski Electronics Inc.

The Conference & Learning Center offers users full-service catering by Levy Restaurants, a fully-equipped business center and on-site parking. It is available year-round for half- and full-day rentals. In addition to Chicago Public School programs, the center will be available for use by local non-profit organizations, businesses and community groups. Non-profit, civic and municipal organizations can use the Conference & Learning Center for reduced or no cost.

"Beyond the entertainment provided by baseball's on-the-field activities, this facility allows ISFA and the Chicago White Sox to offer students unique educational opportunities that will allow them to benefit from the experience and knowledge of the organization, its staff and its supporters," said Alexander R. Lerner, chairman of Illinois Sports Facilities Authority.

The Conference & Learning Center features a large amphitheater-style auditorium with a seating capacity of 160, a meeting room that seats 60 and two board rooms for groups of 8 to 12. The large auditorium features individual consoles at each seat, providing direct audio and data connections, an advanced overhead document display system and computer signal inputs for projection or plasma display. The larger auditorium will serve as the postgame media interview room and provide a space for large press conferences.

HALL OF FAME ROAD TRIP

Baseball As America, the Hall of Fame and Museum's first-ever national exhibit tour, visits Chicago in 2003. The tour will visit The Field Museum from February 8-July 20, 2003, the third stop for Baseball As America. The exhibit opened in New York City in 2002 and will visit 10 world-class museums across the country through 2005.

After the Chicago stay, the tour will visit Cincinnati and St. Petersburg, Fla., in 2003. Future tour stops include Washington, D.C., St. Louis, Houston and two cities yet to be announced. Just like the Hall of Fame experience in Cooperstown, Baseball As America is a national celebration of America's romance with baseball. It represents the richness of baseball as the American pastime and celebrates enduring American values – freedom, patriotism, opportunity and ingenuity. Visit the tour website, baseballasamerica.org, for complete details.

A LOOK AHEAD TO 2004

Ballots for the 2004 Hall of Fame/BBWAA election will be distributed in early December with results from the voting scheduled to be announced in early January 2004. The Veterans Committee will not vote again until 2005. A partial list of first-year candidates for election in 2004 include: Joe Carter, Dennis Martinez, Paul Molitor and Dennis Eckersley. Other former White Sox players eligible in upcoming years: Harold Baines (2007).
